

What will Wallingford look like in a decade? You decide.

What is a POCD?

Plans of Conservation and Development (POCD) are guidance documents that set policy priorities for the physical, economic and social future of a community. POCDs contain goals and visions along with recommended action steps to help work towards achieving those goals. The planning process involves assessing current conditions and trends in order to develop reasonable goals and strategies and engaging the community in a dialogue on its future.

What are our goals?

- Update the Town's 2005 Plan of Conservation & Development (POCD)
- Develop a vision for Downtown Wallingford to prepare for the New Haven - Hartford - Springfield Line, along with Incentive Housing and Transit Oriented Development plans
- Add new "Energy and Sustainability" element to the POCD

Who is involved?

- Steering Committee representing the Town Council, Planning and Zoning Commission, Conservation Commission, Economic Development Commission, Town Departments, community organizations, and citizens at large
- Consultants Milone and MacBroom
- Community members like you through your input, comments, and ideas

How can I participate?

- Visit the Plan website for more background information: http://www.town.wallingford.ct.us/Content/Plan_of_Conservation_and_Development_POCD_Update.asp
- Join our Community Workshop on September 21st, 7pm at Lyman Hall High School
- Stop by our booth at Celebrate Wallingford on October 3rd and 4th
- Stay tuned for upcoming Steering Committee meetings, a follow-up Community Workshop, and a second Community Survey to follow later in Fall 2015